

PYC Cruising Section - Brittany Cruise and Bastille Day meet

The aim of this cruise is to give the opportunity for those who will be cruising Brittany during July to meet up along the way and particularly to converge on a location to join in the French Bastille day celebrations on July 14th.

The big festival this year is the Brest International Maritime festival from 11th - 17th July. This only happens every four years and is a fantastic event, hence, I suggest this should be our target for Bastille Day. Details on <http://www.brest2008.fr/>

We are aiming to leave Poole on about 6th July for Dartmouth and then cross directly to L'Aberwrach and on to Brest. If the "weather gods" are with us this could see us in Brest for the start of the festival. We then intend to carry on to South Brittany for a week or two.

If you are aiming to be in Brittany around this time and would be interested in meeting up in Brest then please let us know so that we can exchange contact details and make plans to meet up. This cruise is completely informal with everyone making their own passage plans and berthing arrangements.

Alternately if you intend to be somewhere else in Brittany for 14th July and would like to meet up with other PYC cruisers then please also let us know and we will try to put people with similar itineraries in touch with each other.
